Sanitized Copy Approved for Release 2010/01/14: CIA-RDP85T01058R000507090001-5

DOC NO NESAMBS-1023CX

OCR CYS

1	709
---	-----

Top Secret

25X1

Afghanistan Situation Report

25X1

26 November 1985

79-81 IMC/CB

Top Secret

NESA M 85-10223CX SOVA M 85-10203CX

26 November 1985 Copy 081

TOP SECRET	25X

AFGHANISTAN SITUATION REPORT
CONTENTS
	25X1
SOVIET ACTIVE IN QANDAHAR	1 25X1
	- 25X1
operations are in progress in the Qandahar area in apparent retaliation for the	25 X 1
12 November death of a Soviet Air Force General and to improve the extremely poor security	25 X 1 situation in Qandahar City.
	25 X 1
POOR INSURGENT SECURITY PRACTICES	1 25X1
The insurgents tend to be careless about maintaining security practices: they discuss operational plans in public places or over the radio, travel the same supply routes repeatedly,
and stop in the same teahouses.	25 X 1
AFGHAN RESISTANCE REQUEST FOR SEAT IN THE
ISLAMIC CONFERENCE BLOCKED	3 25X1
The Secretary General of the Organization of the Islamic Conference told the Afghan resistance	0EV4 delegation to the UN that it could not be seated at the OIC	25 X 1
	25 X 1
	05)//
FOREIGN COMMUNITY UNDER PRESSURE IN KABUL	3 25X1
The Kabul regime has harassed members of the diplomatic community in an apparent attempt to eliminate Western influence and intimidate those diplomats whose countries support the
resistance.	25X1

	26 November 1985
	NESA M 85-10223CX 25X
i	SOVA M 85-10203CX

TOP S	SECRET
			25X1
FOOD	PRICES STABLE IN KABUL	4	25 X 1
	The Soviets keep Kabul adequately supplied with food and food prices in the city did not increase this year. Elsewhere, food prices have risen because war-related transportation disruptions cause spot shortages.		25 X 1
IN BR	RIEF	6	•
PERSP	PECTIVE
AFGHA	ANISTAN-USSR: INSURGENT ATTACKS INTO THE USSR	7	25 X 1
	Insurgent raids across the border into the USSR have had little military impact and will continue to occur infrequently because of Soviet border security measures.		25 X 1
	This document is prepared weekly by the Office of Near Eastern and South Asian Analysis and the Office of Soviet Analysis. Questions or comments on the issues raised in the publication should be directed to		25X1
			25 X 1
			20/1

	TOP SECRET
	25X1
SOVIETS ACTIVE IN QANDAHAR	25X1
	25X1
These operations	are probably in 25X1
retaliation for the 12 November Force Generalwho was killed a	death of a Soviet Air down by insurgent fire near Qan	daharand to improve the extremely poor security sit	uation in Qandahar
City. October, insurgents controlled	in late 25X1 with the exception of the gover	nor's residence and office, the airport, and the re	gime military base. 25X1
	25X1
	0574
POOR INSURGENT SECURITY PRACTICES	25X1
	insurgent caravans this 25X1
summer tended to stop at the sa	me teahouses each time they traveled. Moreover, they repeatedly and explicitly descr	used the same routes ibed their travel plans during their visits to teahouse	s. Maps for alternate 25X1 routes were scarce, and few cou were available.	ld read the maps that guerrillas in radio contac	t with a familiar voice 25X1
often discuss operational plans	openly.
	25X1
	26 November 1985
	NESA M 85-10223CX 25X1
1	SOVA M 85-10203CX

TOP	SECRET

25X1

	TOP SECRET
		25X1
	Comment: The insurgents' security awareness appears to lessen in proportion to their familiarity with a situation. The insurgents have been careful, however, when unknown persons are involved. Guerrillas, for example, screen Afghan Army defectors and others seeking to join their bands. Their weak security practices suggest that the Soviets are not aggressive.
	targeting some major infiltration routes.	25 X 1
N PCU	AN RESISTANCE REQUEST FOR SEAT IN THE ISLAMIC
	ERENCE BLOCKED	25X1
	The Afghan resistance delegation to the UN General Assembly in November asked for Afghanistan's seat in the Islamic Conference (OIC). OIC Secretary-General Pirzada turned aside the insurgents	25X1
		25X1
	Comment: The OIC almost certainly would not agree unanimously to seat the insurgents. OIC members such as Libya, Syria, Iran, and South Yemen have never supported OIC resolutions on Afghanistan and would certainly block another move that they considered anti
	Soviet.	25X1
		25X1
		•
FORE:	IGN COMMUNITY UNDER PRESSURE IN KABUL	25 X 1
		25X1
		20, (.
	During the past year, the Kabul regime has asked various diplomats to leave; has deported Indian, British, and American medical personnel; and has	,
	26 November NESA M 85-1	L0223CX 25X1
	CANA M OE	11 /11 41 Y

TOP :	SECRET
		25X1
	refused to renew contracts for educators and businessmen from France and West Germany. In October, a Saudi diplomat was assaulted by alleged government agents in his home. Saudi Arabia is closing its interests section as a result of the attack.	25X1 Comment: Kabul's harassment of Western diplomats is contrary to recent efforts to project a moderate, conciliatory image and broaden its popular support. Besides encouraging Westerners to leave, the badgering of the diplomatic community in Kabul may be aimed at intimidating missions that provide unflattering news on Afghanistan to their governments and the press, or are suspect because of their sympathies toward the
	resistance.	25 X 1
FOOD	PRICES STABLE IN KABUL	25X1
	During the past year, food prices in Kabul have shown little change, and supplies have been adequate, according to US Embassy reporting.	25X1
	Kabul have risen, however. food prices outside	25 X 1
	Comment: The Soviets have kept Kabul adequately	25 X 1 supplied with food despite the city's rapid population growth over the past few years. The Soviet Union probably believes that food shortages or price increases in Kabul would undermine efforts to build support for the Karmal regime. Despite food price increases in areas outside Kabul, weather data suggest that supplies are generally adequate there as well. Food prices are usually higher outside	25X1 25X1
	the capital because war-related transportation disruptions cause occasional spot shortages.	25 X 1

TOP	SECRET

1985 Food Pricesa

	Rice	Potatoes	Onions	Lamb
Kabul City	30 (-6)	20 (67)	9 (-40)	180 (0)
Ghazni Province
Qarah Bagh Rawdza Pyadarah	105 (28) 80 (90) 80 (33)	32 (60) 19 (12)	35 (192) 40 (48)	180 (50) 210 (45) 85 (21)
Paktia Province	74 (3)	45 (10)		345 (11)
Panjsher Valley	71 ^b

^aAll prices are in Afghanis/kg. The numbers in parentheses are the percent change from 1984. Negative numbers indicate price declines.

 $^{\mathrm{b}}\mathrm{We}$ do not have information on 1984 prices in the Panjsher Valley.

25X1

25X1

TOI	SECRI	ST .	25X1
			20/(1
IN	BRIEF
		The Soviets are using new antipersonnel fragmentation mines in Afghanistan. Technical analysis shows that, unlike previous fragmentation mines, the new mine does not need to be manually emplaced and can be delivered in percussion-fired canisters that sow up to 240 mines at a time. The mine system will probably be mounted on aircraft or armored vehicles; it is not known if it can be	,
		defused easily.	25 X 1
		The Soviet Union is building a road around the city of Mazar-e Sharif to improve security for convoys and military traffic	25X1
		Like the bypass the Soviets are building around the city of Qandahar, the road around Mazar-e Sharif is probably designed to avoid hilly and wooded terrain that affords insurgents	25X1
		cover from which to launch ambushes.	25 X 1
			25X1

	TOP SECRET
SPECTIVE		0.1
HANTOMAN HOOD. THOUSONIM AME	DI CUC TANDO CON COCO	2
HANISTAN-USSR: INSURGENT ATT	TACKS INTO THE USSR	2
We believe Afghan insurgent	t raids across the Soviet border have been few and ha	ave had a negligible military impact. They probably have	e heightened Moscow's concern minority areas close to the	the stability of its ethnic border, however, and tied e forays probably also help to sustain the insurgents'	morale.	2
Insurgent Crossings		0
		2
insurgents have	e probably exaggerated their successes when discussing t	the raids with Western	2 journalists. We believe the	nat most of the raids have occurred in the Tajik SSR,	carried out by Jamiat-i- nt activities probably also extend into the Uzbek and T	Furkmen areas of the USSR.
Incurgent grossings are med	at likely to omnum in soul.
spring and early fall, when	st likely to occur in early n river levels are low enough to ford or to be crossed ea	asily on inflated goatskin
rafts,	Insurgent leaders	:
	nalists that for three years
they had been crossing the mine roads and distribute F counterparts. In one insta
	a Soviet patrol	•
encountered a band of young	g, non-Russian speakers in a	25
the patrol returned the nex	encounter was peaceful, but t day, suspicious that none of the group spoke Russian.	Local people told the patrol that the band was "d	dushman"the Russian word for "bandit" that is an epi	ithet for the Afghan groups regularly came to the	• valley and nearby areas "to	o rest." Moreover.	2
	elderly Tajiks	2
sometimes slipped across th	ne border to die in their	,
home villages.		2
		25

SECF	W1
		2
Gue Sov	errillas also claim to have distributed propaganda in viet border areas and to have crossed into the USSR
	om Badakhshan and Konduz Provinces to mine Soviet	2
		2
Mos	t insurgent raids, however, are probably no more tha	n a continuation of a centuries-old tradition of restock rustling along the border.	2
	Afghan Tajiks,
Sov	isted by their Soviet kinsmen, frequently attacked iet outposts north of Konduz Province to clear the	25
way	for stealing sheep from cooperative farms.	2 25
Sov	viet Border Security
The	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with
The its	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict urity along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB
The its sec Bor pop	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict urity along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the pulated areas of the border region and closely	25
The its sec Bor pop	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict writy along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the bulated areas of the border region and closely sitor civilians in the area
The its sec Bor pop mon	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict urity along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the pulated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area Civilians in the zone are registered; welers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and
The its sec Bor pop mon tra	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict writy along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the bulated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area Civilians in the zone are registered; welers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are ned to report unusual activity or the appearance of	2
The its sec Bor pop mon tra	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict urity along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the ulated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area Civilians in the zone are registered; velers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are	2
The its sec Bor pop mon tra for war str	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict writy along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the bulated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area Civilians in the zone are registered; welers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are ned to report unusual activity or the appearance of	2
The its sec Bor pop mon tra for war str	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict urity along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the ulated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area Civilians in the zone are registered; velers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are ned to report unusual activity or the appearance of angers. Surity measures along the Soviet side of the border y depending on the terrain.	2
The its sec Bor pop mon tra for war str	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict curity along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the culated areas of the border region and closely citor civilians in the area. Civilians in the zone are registered; evelers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are ned to report unusual activity or the appearance of angers. Curity measures along the Soviet side of the border y depending on the terrain. heavy security precautions, including a combination of nearly impenetrable	2
The its sec Bor pop mon tra for war str	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict urity along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the bulated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area. Civilians in the zone are registered; velers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are ned to report unusual activity or the appearance of angers. Curity measures along the Soviet side of the border y depending on the terrain. heavy security precautions, including a combination of nearly impenetrable manmade barriers, alarm devices, and armed guards, protect about 60 percent of the border from Herat	2
The its sec Bor pop mon tra for war str	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict writy along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the bulated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area. Civilians in the zone are registered; velers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are ned to report unusual activity or the appearance of angers. Surity measures along the Soviet side of the border y depending on the terrain. heavy security precautions, including a combination of nearly impenetrable manmade barriers, alarm devices, and armed guards,	2
The its sec Bor pop mon tra for war str	USSR's sensitivity about its borders, coupled with concern about the insurgency, has prompted strict writy along much of the Soviet-Afghan border. KGB der Guards maintain careful control over the valated areas of the border region and closely itor civilians in the area. Civilians in the zone are registered; velers are checked for appropriate entry stamps and legitimate reasons for entry; and residents are ned to report unusual activity or the appearance of angers. Curity measures along the Soviet side of the border y depending on the terrain. heavy security precautions, including a combination of nearly impenetrable manmade barriers, alarm devices, and armed guards, protect about 60 percent of the border from Herat to Konduz Provinces—the portion that could most	25. 2 25X

25X1

TOP SECRET
 The border area along the Pyandzh River (the upper Amu Darya), which is devoid of transportation Amu Darya), which is devote of cransportation routes or settlements and features extremely rugged terrain, particularly on the Soviet side, is characterized by only light Soviet security. It contains no border guard outposts but is probably patrolled periodically by air and monitored by remote surveillance or listening posts.
Tomoto Paritale de les estados Pereses

Outlook

The military and logistic obstacles to expanding the scope and effectiveness of insurgent raids will probably remain so considerable that they will preclude more extensive insurgent efforts to infiltrate the USSR. Border crossings are thus likely to remain infrequent and have little military impact.

25X1

25X1

25X1

TOP	SECRET
		25X1

The Central Asian Resistance

In parts of the USSR just north of Afghanistan, now organized as the Uzbek, Tajik, Turkmen, and Kirgiz republics, significant resistance to the imposition of Bolshevik control by indigenous Islamic peoples persisted for years following the October 1917 revolution. From early 1918 until 1924, and later in sporadic outbreaks well into the 1930s, Soviet forces fought guerrilla attacks by what Moscow called basmachis, another word for bandits, a term currently used in Soviet media to refer to resistance fighters in Afghanistan.

25X1

As the Russian civil war wound down, the Red Army moved into Central Asia and destroyed the most effective Central Asian leaders. Then they offered the guerrillas amnesty and spent money to lure tribal and clan groups from the resistance. In 1924, the newly created USSR reorganized the region along the ethnic and linguistic lines that exist today. Although represented as a move to respect national differences, the reorganization was designed to divide the groups to make them easier to rule. Forced collectivization in the late 1920s caused another upsurge in the fighting that continued until the late 1930s. By then the Russians had in place a group of local leaders willing to front for the Bolsheviks.

25X1

Top Secret